Military & Family Readiness Center (M&FRC)
Service Delivery Statement of Understanding

If you have never been to the Military & Family Readiness Center, you may be unsure of what to expect. The following information is offered for you to consider and, if you wish, discuss with an M&FRC staff member.

CONSULTATION: The mission of your Military & Family Readiness Center (M&FRC) is to provide targeted Airman and family support/services, contributing to the mission readiness, resiliency and well-being of the Air Force community. We accomplish our mission by offering total force members, their families, and leadership with a variety of educational programs and services. We help customers prioritize their concerns/needs and assist them in understanding what resources or new behaviors will enable them to better cope with the situation. Many people have learned talking with a qualified, objective, third party is very helpful when confronted with a new or stressful situation. When developing a goal or plan of action to remedying your situation, it may require a good bit of work and a considerable amount of time and effort on your part. You should expect to take part in decisions to support your goals. It is important for you to be open and honest.

At the close of your first consultation, a service plan will be developed and arrangements will be made for further appointments, workshop attendance, or referrals to other agencies, if indicated. Personal commitment is an essential element for successful completion of your plan as you are an equal participant in this effort.

If you feel you are not receiving the type of assistance you need, talk with the Military & Family Readiness Center Chief.

PRIVACY: You can expect the Military & Family Readiness Center staff to respect your right to privacy. However, please note M&FRC staff members do not have complete confidentiality. If your supervisor/commander/first sergeant made the appointment for you to come to the M&FRC, we will provide general feedback to that person, but will not ordinarily go into specific detail about your situation. The Squadron Commander will be notified of situations which may directly impact personal health, safety, or mission accomplishment. M&FRC staff members are required by law, with or without your consent, to contact proper authorities if they suspect/believe: (1) you may harm yourself or others, (2) you may be a danger to the mission, (3) child abuse or neglect, spouse abuse, drug abuse or criminal activity may be occurring.

RECORDS: You will be requested to provide demographic information (name, unit, phone number, etc.) which is electronically stored and secured. The record contains demographic information, a brief description of your visit(s), and your service plan. If you want to see your record or want a personal copy, you may do so by asking an M&FRC staff member. Records are maintained for the sole purpose of assisting you, the customer.
